A Brief Historical Comment on the Founding and Early Years of the Halsted Club (Society)*

Dr. Walter Hughson is generally credited as being the one who conceived the idea of a new surgical travel club, probably as early as the fall of 1922. According to Dr. Wilder Penfield, Hughson first brought the possibility up as they were returning from a Yale-Princeton football game. In April, 1923, five men met in New York City and, following a breakfast at Child's Restaurant, gathered on a bench in Central Park to continue their discussions on the foundation and naming of this new club. Present at this initial session were Drs. Walter Hughson and Lawrence R. Wharton of Baltimore and Drs. Wilder Penfield, Arthur Purdy Stout, and Harry A. Murray, Jr., of New York City.

This group selected the name Halsted Club, as they felt that William Stewart Halsted, who had died on September 7, 1922, less than a year before, had given the surgical profession a new philosophy and a basic scientific approach to surgery. (Several years later the name was changed to Halsted Society.) By the time of the first formal meeting in Baltimore on June 9 and 10, 1924, the Club consisted of eleven members: Percival Bailey, H. Cuthbert Bazett, Frank B. Berry, Loyal E. Davis, Walter Hughson, Robert W. Johnson, Jr., Monroe A. McIver, Harry A. Murray, Jr., Wilder Penfield, Arthur Purdy Stout, and Lawrence R. Wharton.

At this first meeting the pattern of future meetings was adopted with a day of presentations by the "host institution" and at least a day of presentations by the members. The local participants included Drs. Samuel J. Crowe, Walter E. Dandy, John Staige Davis, Henry A. Peterson, Harvey B. Stone, and Karl M. Wilson. A highlight of the first meeting was the dinner held at the Baltimore Club, where Dr. William H. Welch spoke informally about Dr. Halsted for some two hours.

After these auspicious beginnings the group gradually enlarged, but never to the point of compromising the intimate nature of the organization. As is the case with many such societies, there have been lean years and troubled times. Such was the case in 1939, when some members gave serious consideration to stopping the election of new members and permitting the Society to die out with its current membership. However, through the efforts of such men as I. S. Ravdin and Owen H. Wangenstein, the society was kept alive. In the years following, particularly after World War II, new members were elected with varying talents from widely scattered locations. Today the Halsted Society is a vigorous organization of professional men and women who support the purposes listed in Article II of the constitution: to perpetuate the memory of Doctor William Stewart Halsted; to further the scientific principles and ideals for which he stood; to encourage exchange of ideas, free and informal discussion, and a spirit of sociability and good fellowship among its members.

HASLTED SOCIETY INCORPORATED

CONSTITUTION

ARTICLE I – Name

The name of the Society shall be the Halsted Society (Incorporated).

ARTICLE II – Purpose

The purpose of the Society shall be:

- a) to perpetuate the memory of Doctor William Stewart Halsted
- b) to further the scientific principles and ideals for which he stood
- c) to encourage exchange of ideas, free and informal discussion, and a spirit of sociability and good fellowship among its members

ARTICLE III – Officers

The officers of the Society shall be the President, Vice-President, and Secretary-Treasurer, and Secretary-Treasurer Elect. The President shall sever a term of one year. The Vice-President shall serve for one year and at the expiration of his term shall become President.

The Secretary-Treasurer shall serve for three years (Amendment 1972). The secretary-Treasurer Elect will serve for one year and then succeed the Secretary-Treasurer (Amendment 1996).

ARTICLE IV – The Directors

There shall be three Directors serving for a term of three years with the terms overlapping so that one Director is elected at each annual meeting.

ARTICLE V – Members

Section 1 – Membership in this Society shall be by invitation only. The membership shall be designated as Active, Senior, Honorary, and Auxiliary.

Section 2 – Active Members. Active members shall be limited to 75 surgeons and other individuals in allied branches of medicine. Active members have the right to hold office, present papers to serve on all committees and to participate in all transactions of the Society. A majority vote of two-thirds of all the members of the Society shall be required to change the existing limit of active members.

Section 3 – Senior Members. Active members, upon reaching the age of 55 or who have been members of the Society for 12 years may apply to the Secretary for senior membership. Senior members shall be exempt for dues. They shall have the right to attend all meetings, present papers, participate in all discussions and vote, but not hold office or serve on committees.

Section 4 – Honorary Members. Honorary membership shall be limited to surgeons, and other individuals in allied branches of science. Honorary members shall be exempt from dues, shall have the right to attend all meetings, present papers and participate in all discussion, but they shall not have the right to vote, hold office or serve on any committees.

Section 5 – Auxiliary Members. Auxiliary members shall be limited to the spouses of deceased members who will receive meeting correspondences and are invited to attend the annual meeting.

ARTICLE VI – Council

Section 1 – The Council shall be composed of the President, the past President (Amendment 1995), the Vice-President, The Secretary-Treasurer, and the three Directors.

ARTICLE VII - Committees

Section 1 – The Society shall have the following committees appointed annually by the President:

- a) A Nominating Committee of three
- b) An Auditing Committee of two
- c) A Program Committee of two or more
- d) A membership Committee of three

The President shall appoint one new member each year to serve for three years.

ARTICLE VIII – Amendment of the Constitution

This Constitution shall be deemed in effect upon adoption by majority vote of the members present. Amendments may be proposed in writing to the Secretary and must be held over for one year before adoption by majority vote of the members present at a meeting.

BYLAWS

ARTICLE I – Meetings of Members

Section 1 – Members of the Society shall meet annually at such convenient time and place as recommended by the President and Council and approved by majority vote of members present at a meeting. It has been a tradition since 1970, to meet at High Hampton every fourth or fifth year.

Section 2 – Such Special Meetings as the activities of the Society shall require may be called by the President.

Section 3 – The nature of the scientific program to be presented at the meetings shall be arranged and specified by the Council. Any member of the Society shall have the right to participate in any scientific program. Request for participation together with the title and short abstract must be sent to the Secretary of the Society at least two months prior to the date of the meeting. Nominees selected for membership will become members upon presentation of their first paper before the Society.

ARTICLE II – Officers

Section 1 – The President shall preside at all meetings of the Society.

Section 2 – The Vice-President shall, in the absence of the President, preside at all meetings of the Society.

Section 3 – The Secretary-Treasurer shall serve for a three year term and shall be eligible to be re-elected. He shall:

- a) Record the proceeds of the Society and have custody of all of its records,
- b) Notify members of the time and place of the meetings of the Society at least one month prior thereto,
- c) Receive proposals for membership and submit to the members a list of candidates for active membership,
- d) Receive all requests from members for papers to be presented and coordinate these with the Program Committee,
- e) Have custody of all accounts and financial transactions of the Society and render annual financial statements at each meeting,
- f) Assume such other duties as are directed by the President.

Section 4 – The Secretary-Treasurer Elect will assist the Secretary-Treasurer during the third year of the three year term. He or she will then succeed to the position of Secretary-Treasurer.

Section 5 – In any event of a vacancy in any office by death, resignation or inability to act, the President or in his absence, the Vice-President, shall designate an active member to fill the unexpired term of office then vacant.

ARTICLE III – The Directors

Section 1 – The Directors shall meet as members of the Council.

Section 2 – In the event of vacancy among the Directors through death, resignation or inability to act, the surviving member or members shall have full authority to act until the next annual meeting at which the members of the Society shall elect a new Director to fill the unexpired term then vacant.

ARTICLE IV – Members

Section 1 – Active Members. Nominations for membership shall be submitted to the Secretary at least two months prior to any annual meeting. Election to membership shall be by an affirmative vote of seven-eighths of all members present at the next annual meeting. Any member present at a meeting at which the vote is taken, who does not vote, shall be considered an affirmative vote. Nominations for membership received by the Secretary shall be considered by the Membership Committee each of the next three consecutive years and if not elected, the proposal shall be dropped. The sponsor may submit a new proposal after period of one year, which shall be considered each of the next three consecutive years (Amendment 1960).

Section 2 – Honorary Members. Nominations for honorary membership shall be submitted to the Secretary two months prior to any annual meeting. Elections to membership shall require recommendation of the Council an affirmative vote of three-fourths of the members present at the next annual meeting and an affirmative vote of the Board of Directors. There shall be no restrictions on the number of honorary members of the Society at any one time.

Section 3 – Dues and Assessments. Active members shall pay annual dues suggested by the Council and approved by the majority of members present at a regular meeting. Special assessments may be recommended by the Council and approved by a majority of members present at a regular meeting to be paid by both active and senior members (Amendment 1968).

ARTICLE V – Council

Section 1 – The council shall approve the recommendations of the Membership Committee of candidates for active membership. Transfer of active members to senior members and the election of honorary members shall require the affirmative vote of the majority of the Council before presentation to the membership.

Section 2 – The Council, through the Secretary, shall receive invitations from members for future annual meeting places and select one prior to submitting the name of the city to the membership for approval.

Section 3 – The Council shall have the authority to drop from membership any active member who shall fail to attend three consecutive meetings without an acceptable excuse.

ARTICLE VI – Committees

Section 1 – The President shall be at the annual meeting to appoint the following committees:

- a) Nomination Committee: This Committee shall consist of three active members and shall submit nominations for President, Vice-President, Secretary-Treasurer, Secretary-Treasurer Elect, and the Directors.
- b) Auditing Committee: This Committee shall consist of two, active members and shall review the books for the financial transactions for the Society, and report to the Society.
- c) Program Committee: This Committee shall consist of at least two and as many other members as the President desires to appoint. It shall arrange for all meetings of the Society and plan scientific program.
- d) Membership Committee: This Committee shall review all completed proposals for membership and submit recommendations to the Council. The Chairman shall attend the Council meeting but not vote on their actions.

ARTICLE VII – Amendments

Section 1 – Amendments to these bylaws may be proposed by any member in writing to the Secretary of the Society. An amendment so proposed shall become effective upon approval by a majority vote of the members present at the next annual meeting.

The Halsted Society

87 Years Strong and Counting

William A. Baumgartner, MD, David B. Adams, MD

The Early Years

The Halsted Society held its first meeting June 9, 1924 at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore. The primary person responsible for the birth of the Society was Dr. Walter Hughson. He was in the Department of Anatomy at Johns Hopkins from 1920-1925. There were mixed feelings among prominent surgeons as to the need for an additional Society during this time when the American Surgical Association and the Society of Clinical Surgery were the preeminent surgical organizations. After much discussion among several prominent surgeons and with the encouragement of Dr. William H. Welch, the organization was born whose name was to honor Dr. William S. Halsted, first Professor of Surgery at Johns Hopkins who had died in September of 1922. Initially called the Halsted Club, several years later the name was changed to the Halsted Society.

The mission of this new organization was to provide an opportunity for younger physicians to become members. The initial plan was that there would be approximately 30 members. In an exchange of letters between two founding members, Dr. Harry Murray wrote to Dr. Percival Bailey stating: "I would like to say that the real success of the organization depends entirely upon its membership. Of course it would be easy enough to elect four or five able-bodied clean cutting surgeons from the twelve largest cities in the United States, have enthusiastic meetings which each member read off an analysis of his last 75 gastroenterostomies and end up with a roaring dinner and a golf match, but who wants this? I should say that there were a few, very few surgeons, or embryonic surgeons who think, who enjoy problems, who like surgery and science for their own sakes; who stimulate you when there is an interchange of ideas, etc., such men as Drs. Cushing and Halsted. My opinion would be that we must comb the country for such men – disregard organization, location, age, heredity, race, creed, color, humidity, and temperature. Three or four dead weights or one real second-rater and the club will be no better than the American Medical Association."

Although two of the founding members were Hopkins' trained and associated with the institution, most of the members were not associated with Johns Hopkins. By 1935 only three former Halsted residents had been elected to membership.

Eleven members attended the first meeting. These included: Percival Bailey, H. Cuthbert Bazett, Frank B. Berry, Loyal E. Davis, Walter Hughson, Robert W. Johnson, Jr., Monroe A. McIver, Harry A. Murray, Jr., Wilder Penfield, Arthur Purdy Stout, and Lawrence R. Wharton. Operations were observed, lectures were given, and dinner was held at the Baltimore Club on the evening of June 9th.

As is the current practice, presentations on the first day were made by members of the host institution and second day presentations were made by members of the Society. According to Dr. Peter D. Olch, in describing the first meeting, "the climax came when Dr. William H. Welch sat in an overstuffed chair and began to reminisce about Dr. Halsted. Welch left the impression that Halsted was eventually cured (from his drug addiction); however, in later years Welch reported otherwise."

The second meeting was held at the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital where there were nine members present. One of the original founders of the Society, Dr. Percival Bailey, had recommended Dr. Emile Holman for nomination to the Society. Dr. Holman had been the last resident to be trained by Dr. Halsted. Apparently at the meeting his nomination was "black balled," led by Dr. Hughson. Their dislike for one another reportedly stemmed from days shared in medical school at Hopkins. As a result of this dispute, Dr. Bailey resigned from the Society. Dr. Holman was made an honorary member in 1972.

Initially there were no officers other than an Acting Secretary, and there was neither a constitution nor bylaws. Dr. I.S. Ravdin became secretary in 1933 and held the position for the next 13 years. The Society had grown to 38 members by 1936, and at that time it was decided that the membership would be limited to 50. Although there was a feeling towards the end of the 1930's that the Society should probably end after the retirement of the current members, the Society did continue on without interruption until 1941, when it recessed because of World War II.

The meeting reconvened in Baltimore in 1947, where the membership limit was raised from 50 to 60 and there was renewed enthusiasm to continue the Society from the members, particularly encouraged by Drs. Ravdin and Wangensteen. The upper age for new members was set at 40 and Dr. Ravdin was elected President at this meeting.

One year later a constitution was adopted, officers were designated and active and senior membership categories were put into place. It was decided that active members would be limited to 60 in number which was eventually increased to 75 in 1957. However, upon the age of 55 or having been a member for 15 years, one could apply for senior membership. The idea behind capping the membership was to maintain the informal atmosphere that had been associated with the club since its inception. In 1952 the event was again held in Baltimore to celebrate the centenary of William S. Halsted's birth.

In the post war years, it was concluded by a number of the members that there was a need for more "young blood" in the Society, and Owen Wangensten, Chair of the Department of Surgery at Minnesota, (President 1957-59), was a driving force in this initiative. In fact, he was such a force that he continued to give "marching orders" to many who served as officers after his own term as president, according to one of his successors. Dr. Wangensten's enthusiasm, and that of the contingents from Minnesota, Columbia-Presbyterian and Pennsylvania, was the probable cause of the Hopkins group becoming a minority of the membership in spite of Johns Hopkins Hospital being Dr. Halsted's territory. Past President Walter Lawrence remembers that even though he had served on the surgical housestaff at the Johns Hopkins Hospital (1948-50), his sponsor for membership was not from Hopkins, but from the Columbia-Presbyterian group. The photo of the 24 members attending the 1963 meeting had only two who were Hopkins surgical alumni.

The Historian of the Halsted Society, Peter Olch, was elected in the 1960s as a non-surgeon because of his specific interest and expertise relating to the history of Dr. Halsted. As part of his investigations, he had obtained oral histories from the "locals" in Cashiers, NC about the activities of Dr. Halsted when he was at his summer retreat, High Hampton. He had convinced Dr. Lawrence, the Secretary-Treasurer, to have the 1970 meeting in High Hampton because of the unique historical flavor of this site. The ambience for this meeting was clearly a change, but the meeting at this site was successful enough to lead the Society to return there for regular meetings over later years. Peter Olch had a major impact on the Halsted Society in addition to this High Hampton connection. First, papers relating to surgical history became an increasingly important part of each annual program since his initial stimulus. Second, he nominated a number of non-surgical members who enriched the discussions at our annual meetings.

Unique content of the scientific sessions of the Society was commented on by Dr. Olch in his Hopkins Medical Journal article: "They covered a variety of surgical and related specialties and were presented in a sufficiently intimate atmosphere to encourage frank questioning and vigorous discussion. Of particular interest were the papers relating to the history of surgery and to medical education, subjects which appear with increasing frequency since the early 1950's."

According to Dr. Olch, by 1974 there were approximately 75 active members, 89 senior members, and two honorary members. He also stated that the group had maintained a fraternal feeling particularly among the members who consistently attended and participated in the meetings. During these years, the meetings were held primarily on the east coast and mid-west. However, on occasions they ventured as far west as Denver, Colorado and Jackson Hole Wyoming.

Members proposed in earlier years were not accepted if there was an objection by even one current member. There is no record of all of those rejected for this reason, but Emile Holman, Dr. Halsted's last resident surgeon, stands out as one such person rejected for membership. Dr. Holman came from San Francisco to Palo Alto for the 1975 meeting of the Halsted Society at Stanford after his belated election to membership a couple of years before. There was a genuine thrill amongst the membership at the 1975 meeting when this modest and charming surgical giant appeared in their midst. Later belated elections to membership included Mark Ravitch, Harry Shumacker, and Rollo Hanlon, surgical giants who had their origins at the Hopkins.

The Early Years segment is in large part a synopsis of Dr. Peter Olch's article entitled "The Halsted Society, 1924-1974" published in the Johns Hopkins Medical Journal, 1974 with additional comments by Dr. Walter Lawrence, Secretary/Treasurer 1970-72 and President 1975.

Contemporary Years (1974-2011)

At the 1974 meeting, which took place at the Hunt Valley Inn in Baltimore, Maryland, there were 57 members in attendance. The President was Dr. Richard Stark and the Secretary Treasurer was Dr. Brad Aust. This was the 50th Anniversary celebration of the Society. It was during this time that Dr. Olch presented his synopsis of the early years of the organization (1924-1974). The rate for a hotel room at the Hunt Valley Inn was $23.00. There was an organized fishing trip during that meeting on the Chesapeake which was enjoyed by all in attendance.

At the 1978 meeting in San Antonio, Peter Olch, then Secretary/Treasurer, was nominated as Vice President/President elect. In accepting that nomination he said the following: "I can say without qualification that the past three years have been a labor of love. As a single 'renegade' surgeon who once drove one of our senior members distraught at the operating table ("My God Olch are you with me or against me!"). I am deeply honored to have been elected Vice President/President-elect of this magnificent organization."

At the annual business meeting in 1978 there was protracted discussion about poor attendance at the annual meeting by some of the active members. The President was asked to write a letter to those individuals "informing them that they have been dropped from the rolls of the Society or if warranted a warning to attend the next meeting." An additional discussion was also held regarding who should present papers at the annual meeting. Although there were several points of view, "it was unanimously agreed that a resident or staff associate should not present a paper to the Society if his/her sponsor is not in the audience to defend and further discuss the paper. This did not include however the staff of the local host institution."

Humor has always been a value of the Halsted Society and is well illustrated by Gill Campbell's July 16, 1979 letter to the Halstedians in reference to the 1979 meeting planned for Little Rock, Arkansas. To quote Dr. Campbell: "How in the hell does anyone get to Little Rock? The Little Rock Hilton Inn is a typical city facility with all of the warmth and sincerity of a mother-in-law's kiss." The next several meetings, which took place in the cities of Gainesville, New York, Indianapolis, Amelia Island and Los Angeles, had no significant points of discussion during the annual business meetings.

At the 1982 meeting, in reaction to a membership questionnaire in which half of the votes cast were put into the "do not know" category, it was decided that a candidate's sponsoring letter would be included with the ballots. It was emphasized that this sponsoring letter should be sufficiently detailed to "jog memories and provide a method for more rational judgment."

To further enhance the membership process, the 1985 membership committee "strongly recommended that potential candidates be invited to the meeting as a guest of an active or senior member of the organization. Other than the nominees elected to active membership in 1985 many of the nominees were known by less than 80 percent of the election poll."

Several of the next meetings held in places including High Hampton, Jackson Hole, Philadelphia, and Cincinnati, had a recurring "issue of attendance" theme at the annual business meeting.

In the 1989 meeting in Philadelphia with Dr. William Curreri as President, Dr. C. Rollins Hanlon, and Dr. Jonathan E. Rhoades were introduced as new honorary members of the Society.

In 1991 at High Hampton, President John MacDonald announced that Peter Olch had died during the previous year. Dr. MacDonald proposed that the Peter Olch lecture be made permanent and be a competition among historical papers submitted to the program committee. This was unanimously passed.

At the 1992 meeting with Dr. Gill Diethelm as President, Dr. Bradley Aust gave a report of the bylaws committee in the absence of Dr. John Sawyers. The principal changes noted: "When new members are accepted for membership they do not formally achieve membership until they have presented a paper before the membership of the Halsted Society." The practice of senior members not holding office was retained. However, the practice of allowing members to choose whether they wish to become senior members after either twelve years of membership or age 55 was continued. It was noted by Dr. Aust that members who join the Halsted Society at a very young age, should become eligible for holding office after they have been members for more than twelve years.

At the 1996 meeting it was decided that to maintain better continuity within the Society, there should be a Secretary/Treasurer-elect position who would serve one year during the final year of the Secretary/Treasurer, in order to become familiar with the overall process of meeting management. Dr. Lewis Flint was the first Secretary/Treasurer-elect and because of this bylaws change, Dr. John Cameron was asked to continue for one additional year as Secretary/Treasurer. The other significant bylaws change at that time was that the immediate past President was included as a member of the council.

In 1997, in Los Angeles, Dr. David Bloom was officially appointed by Dr. J. Grossfeld, then President, as the official photographer for the Halsted Society and Dr. Daniel Nunn as the official historian.

The 2001 meeting, to be held in Boston, was cancelled because of the tragic events associated with destruction of the World Trade Center Towers.

At the 2007 business meeting, “there was a motion, a second and unanimous approval to raise the annual dues from $50 to $100-still one of the lowest membership figures of any professional organization.”

At the 2008 business meeting presided over by President L. D. Britt at High Hampton, the Secretary/Treasurer Dr. Krummell “reviewed the meeting cancellation policy which is that registration fees will be returned if registration is cancelled within one month of the meeting date. Fifty percent of the registration fee will be refunded if done so within two weeks of the meeting and a refund will not be made for cancellations less than two weeks within the meeting date.”

In the most recent years the only significant bylaws change was to increase the active member limit to “eighty surgeons and other individuals in allied branches of medicine.”

The last meeting of the “Contemporary Years” (1974-2011) was held at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, Maryland, in September of 2011. President Dr. William Baumgartner presented the membership with a pamphlet of the history of the Halsted Society from 1924 to 2011. This document will be given to all new members.

At the 2013 meeting in Minneapolis Norman Rich was named Society Historian and Joe Cofer was named Society Photographer.

In closing this synopsis of the Halsted Society Dr. Peter Olch's conclusion in his 1974 Johns Hopkins Medical Journal article, “the Halsted Society, 1924-74” should be revisited as its sentiment remains true and fundamental to the core of the Halsted Society:

“Though larger than the founding members had envisioned, the Halsted Society today fulfills the purposes of the Society as listed in the constitution: to perpetuate the memory of Dr. William Stewart Halsted, to further the scientific principles and ideals for which he stood, to encourage the exchange of ideas, free and informal discussion, in a spirit of sociability and good fellowship among its members.”
